AN OUT-OF-SEASON PRODUCTION

A Month of Sundays

by

BOB LARBEY

Directed by

RAY MANN

This year's Out-of-Season Production is Bob Larbey's first play for the stage and it's a beauty. The London Standard critic, Milton Shulman, described it as a "quiet, perceptive, surprisingly enchanting play". The Daily Mail's late lamented Jack Tinker said that the play "lifts our spirits and reinforces our humanity and (makes) the West End a warmer and more wonderful place".

16th to 20th June, 1998, at 7.45 pm
