THE YOUTH GROUP IS GRATEFUL TO TONY BERRY, COLIN HAYNES AND SYD COLEY FOR THEIR HELP WITH THIS PRESENTATION

This evenings presentation is the culmination of workshops with the members of the SDC Youth Group over the last two months. Each of those taking part began by creating a character for themselves through a series of monologues, with the aim of making the actors think about all aspects of their character. Having decided on the dramatis personae for the presentation, the participants adopted their characters to improvise numerous scenes related to the chosen theme of 'Friendship and Betrayal'. Throughout the various scenes the actors were required to remain faithful to the characterisations which they had developed. The actors learnt about various acting techniques, and grew to understand what type of performance is most effective in the small acting space created in the Little Theatre Bar.

Improvisations were cut if they revealed nothing new about the characters or developed further if the scenes appeared promising. The result is a self-devised drama telling the stories of one male and nine females and how they cope with the trials and tribulations of modern life.

Thank you for supporting the SDC Youth Group this evening.
